

Remarks

Applicants' last response, filed on 11/08/2005 with a Notice of Appeal, was believed to put the case in condition for allowance. The subsequent Advisory Action noted that all but two of the pending claims were in fact allowed. However, Claims 22 and 36 were identified by the Examiner as missing some content. Because of a printing snafu which went undetected (by applicants), several colored whole chemical structures and atoms of other structures did not print properly. Fortunately there should be no confusion about the content of those chemical structures, since they remain unchanged from previously submitted claims. A reprinted copy of the 11/08/2005 Claims Listing is attached and hopefully now puts all claims in condition for allowance.

Once again, applicants thank the examiner for his continued thorough and thoughtful review of this case. We believe that the attached claims are in good condition for allowance. If any issues remain open which might be amenable to resolution by phone, the Examiner is invited to call applicants' undersigned attorney.

Respectfully submitted,
